Bassano to Work Out Own Salvation.

The Public Meeting held last night for the purpose of discussing the financial condition of the town while not achieving any definite object immediately was responsible for a resolution petitioning the Council to levy an improvement tax by which it is hoped to overcome the past-due indebtedness and eventually to place the town upon a sound financial basis.

The Mayor in opening the meeting, very briefly explained the situation which confronts the town and said that Bassano had to choose between the alternatives of throwing up the sponge or getting down to some system of taxation which would be more successful in raising revenue than the present single tax system.

The situation as far as the council was concerned was hopeless for they had not the power to initiate any scheme which would afford immediate relief, and the object of the meeting was to enable the ratepayers to grasp the situation and offer some suggestions or resolutions which would give the Council power to proceed with such remedies as might seem to be most practicable.

The secretary-treasurer explained fully the circumstances which were responsible for the present position and briefly outlined the possibilities which might ensue should the town fail to meet its liabilities, increasing upon the meeting that the last alternative of the town passing into the hands of an external creditor which is equivalent to a receivership, would not only be extremely costly, but also that the official council could not do one thing more than the present council.

He suggested the levying of a tax upon improved property in the town as being the most feasible solution to the problem.

The discussion which followed showed that the ratepayers had fully grasped the condition of affairs, though several were strenuously opposed to any alteration in the system of taxation.

J. H. Stiles and E. McCaughy suggested that rather than pay an improvement tax which in effect would be paying a big portion of the taxes of outside property holders, they would prefer the mill rate doubled. Several spoke in a similar strain, but the matter was brought to a head by J. S. Mayor in moving a resolution petitioning the Council to levy a tax on improvements.

Speaking to his resolution, Mr. Mayor dwelt on the situation from every point of view, and said that though he was opposed to the improvement tax on general principles he could see no other alternative in the present condition of the town.

It was only a matter of time, he said before the residents of the town would have to shoulder the whole burden of taxation, and this, longer it was postponed the heavier would be the load they would have to carry. Whereas on the other hand if we voluntarily assumed the heavy and of it now it was probable that the owners of property from outside would continue to pay their taxes and thus relieve the residents of that amount.

Realizing that the tax suggested was vicious and liable to work hardship on the business men and residents of the town, it was obvious that we had to choose between assuming that voluntarily or having it imposed upon us compulsorily together with considerable extra expense by an official council.

The resolution was seconded by

Their Ancient Code

Japan Have Peculiar Code of Atoning for a Crime

The pathetic appeal to the strands of the Canada Mail, illustrating the veneration in which Japanese hold a well known code of their ancient chivalry. According to that code Captain Yamamoto felt that the misadventure which befell his ship involved him in disgrace and that his honorable conduct was in jeopardy if he himself in expiation. That, not the fear of punishment for what he had done, but the desire to atone for the misdeed which inspired him to make an atonement. In western eyes it is regrettable that the captain could not atone for his crime by the courts, for he was a most efficient and courteous officer and the stranding of his ship was surrounded by highly extenuating circumstances.

Yamamoto was a shirei which all Japan venerated, and on which Prince Arthur recently laid a wreath. It was erected in memory of Nogi, the death of Port Arthur, who took his own life immediately following the disaster of his ship. Nogi, then a subordinate officer, considered that a battalion under his command had disgraced itself, and contemplated dying with it. The emperor, however, excused him from a promise that he would not take that step while he (the emperor) lived. Meanwhile, Nogi became one of Japan's greatest soldiers. His unexampled achievement in the war with Russia made him one of the idols of his countrymen. He did not let his early death in the hands of his countrymen. He did not let his early death in the hands of his countrymen.

Europe's Backward Pupil

Must Learn War Is Not a Profitable Business

Prussia is supposed to be a backward pupil according to the Dundee Advertiser, the editor of this well known Scottish newspaper writing: "One of the principal aims of the allies in this struggle must be the endeavor to educate Prussia up to the realization of the fact—which has long ago been recognized by every civilized power except herself—that war is a costly and not a profitable business. It has been slow, a very slow process up to now. Unfortunately, Prussia has several occasions in the past had some real grounds for coming to an opposite conclusion."

"Within about fifty years she had waged three great wars, and by reason of her easy successes had been able to escape the usual penalties of defeat. Decided by the Allied Forces as her defeat, and she had compelled the whole of her people to bow the knee and worship it."

The American Women's Club in London carries out a kind of anti-autopsy, not only among the American women there, but people from all countries.

WOMEN ARE NEEDED

TO HELP IN WAR.

Women can be profitably employed in many ways in the war. In the United States, women are doing much of the work. In Canada, women are also doing much of the work. In the United States, women are doing much of the work. In Canada, women are also doing much of the work.

TO every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible.

But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?" Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.

It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money.

Only one way now remains to obtain it.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

If anyone says "I cannot save" let him consider to what extent he would pinch himself to relieve the sufferings of a loved one at home? And surely he would not pinch less for our fighting brothers in France.

Without suffering actual privations, nearly every family in Canada can reduce its standard of living, can practice reasonable thrift, can make cheerful sacrifice to enrich the life-blood of the nation.

You who read this, get out pencil and paper NOW. Set down the items of your living expense. Surely you will find some items there you can do without.

Determine to do without them.

Start TO-DAY. Save your money so that you may be in a position to lend it to your country in its time of need.

The Thrift Campaign which is being urged over the whole Dominion is one which, if successful, will have effects which will be appreciated long after the war has been won.

But in its relation to the war thrift can achieve a purpose which should be sufficient in itself to justify its adoption by every man, woman and child in Canada, for in its most literal sense thrift embraces every act of a person's life.

We are urged to practice thrift not for the sole purpose of saving money, but for the wider object of economizing in labor, so that labor may be released for work directly connected with the war.

For instance, a man by wearing his clothes longer may cut down his expenditure and release both labor and material for other purposes. The same thing is equally applicable to women.

By eliminating joy-riding a man saves gasoline for the country and the expense of it together with wear and tear of the car himself.

In cutting down unnecessary expenditures in other lines which will suggest themselves readily to all, we may not only help ourselves but we are helping indirectly the war efforts being made in our behalf by the nation.

It is not necessary to explain the urgency of the matter for it must be obvious to all that Canada's contribution to the war can only be maintained by the strictest economy of effort and the conservation of material.

The trust thrift is that which economizes by purchasing articles which give the greatest value and service, for while it does not take any vote labor to make good articles than inferior, the greater length of service, or the superior quality effects the saving required.

Examine your expenditures for a month by careful check together with the results you obtain from your purchases and you will be able to estimate just how much you can save and how much greater value you should have received by more thrifty buying.

While reckless extravagance may have been eliminated largely by the unfavorable season, there are many dollars spent to-day which do not bring a nickel's worth of good to the spender.

These and all other unnecessary expenditures must be cut out, if the individual is to assist the nation to do its part in the bringing about the successful issue of the war.

The many and varied appeals for contributions to funds organized to supply the soldiers with necessities and comforts are becoming more and more frequent and each exposes a deficiency in the arrangements made by the Army authorities for the welfare of the boys in France and England.

It is inevitable that people should tend to wonder why, if these things which the Y. M. C. A., Church Army, Salvation Army, Knights of Columbus, and above all the Red Cross Society are so essential to the physical and spiritual welfare of our boys, that the Government does not appropriate sufficient money for the purpose so that every want may be supplied.

The efforts which are made to raise funds for these different organizations and the cost of each drive is really effort and money wasted when it is considered that by raising the amount needed by taxation through channels and organization, which already exist all this work could and should be eliminated.

We are told that much more could be done if only the funds were available to build up the morale of the boys, and to supply them with comforts which, though not included in the quartermasters' supplies, are essentials.

If the funds were available?

The funds are available and the government should make it its business to get them.

Alberta's experience in the Patriotic Fund Levy has taught us how easy it is to carry a burden when everybody takes an equal proportion of the load, and there is but little doubt that if everything required by the boys overseas was provided by taxation the work would be soon perfected, every want supplied, and nobody would feel the pinch at home.

While the funds are raised by voluntary contributions there are thousands who never respond at all, and as many more who do not give according to their means while others, thank God, endeavor to meet every obligation honorably.

We would urge our members of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments to give this matter their earnest consideration; for the necessity of the work overseas together with its vital importance, which is only now being realized demands that it be placed on a safe and sure basis.

It is over with FORTY-TWO PAINTERS about the old "Lime." He can help it up to look like new.

Your job is to grab stake this world. That is what you are up against, and it is quite a job. You can do it. You have done it for four years, and what was done then can be duplicated.

There is no such thing as a food surplus in this world. The universe is living from hand to mouth as probably never before in its history.

The stacks of food have been wiped out, and the producers have been taken from the land in large numbers. The call to those remaining is much louder than ever before. It is more insistent, and its demands must be heeded.

The full dinner pail is but a memory for millions on this earth. It can be filled sufficiently to keep life going, but it can only be filled by you. It can't be done in Europe. It must be done here.

Not until the Hun is hammered into submission, not until peace is declared, and commerce resumes its wonted way can we let up for a minute.

Get the tractors on the land. Keep them working day and night. Turn over more acres of land.

This can be done. You have the patriotism, the courage, and the heroism to do it.

Buy an Irrigated Farm

From the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, not occasionally, but EVERY YEAR. Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of alfalfa, which insures good returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement, with all the advantages of a deeply populated agricultural community. Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, for years that it has been tried to large, absolutely demonstrated success wherever intelligently applied.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record.

STYLE HEADQUARTERS

This Waistseam Is a Popular Departure

Society Brand Clothes
D.A.C.

IT'S surprising how much the Waistseam adds to the effect of a coat. You'll know the reason for its popularity the moment you slip it on and see your figure in the mirror. The fact is that most men who do, don't want to take it off.

Society Brand Clothes

have the style tailored in by hand, so it will stay in as long as the fabric lasts. That's the only way that any Society Brand Suit or Overcoat is tailored, regardless of the model or the price.

All Society Brand Clothes embody one standard of workmanship, and one that gives you more and better tailoring than any other clothes that we know. The label identifies the genuine; it is also the maker's pledge of satisfaction.

Looking over the new Society Brand ideas is as good as attending a style show. This is the time to come in.
